

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION CAREERS TRAINING PROGRAM

Lewis and Clark Community College offers a FREE 16-week Highway Construction Careers Training Program that provides the necessary skills to succeed in the construction field.

Past Participants have this to say about the FREE Program:

“Participating in the HCCTP was a great experience which has helped me to turn my life around for the better. I am now a loyal member of the Sheet Metal Workers’ Local 36 which has allowed me to have a better lifestyle with a great career. Without the guidance and assistance that I received from HCCTP, I would probably still be undecided about what to do with my life.”

Emanuel Jenkins, 1st Term Apprentice
Sheet Metal Workers’ Local 36

“After recently being incarcerated I had the opportunity to be a part of the HCCTP program. With a positive attitude, I was able to get my life back on track and take advantage of the benefits the program had to offer. I am a 2nd term apprentice in the Carpenters Union now, and I am providing a better lifestyle for me and my family. I want others to know regardless of their mistakes there is an opportunity for them if they try hard and want it!”

Willie Brown, 2nd Term Apprentice
Southern Illinois Carpenters Joint Apprenticeship Program

“The Highway Construction program was a great opportunity for me and has definitely changed my life. The job I have has provided a better quality of life for me and my family. I am very thankful for what I learned in the program and the chance to meet the right people that would help start my career.”

Jermaine Stiff, 1st Term Apprentice
Operative Plasterers & Cement Masons Local 90

An hourly stipend will be awarded to accepted students while they attend the program.
